Dear Sirs
I understand that Aquind now want rights to dig up sections of Locksway Road Allotments, in Portsmouth.

I attended the allotment meeting with Aquind last year and no mention was made of that. We were told that they wanted to drill underneath the allotments at a depth of 10 metres and it would not affect us at all. It all seemed all right; the speakers were reasonable and informed. The engineer was especially good and I believed what he said. The few allotment renters who strongly objected appeared to be jaded, suspicious and with a 'shop steward' mentality who were moaning about nothing. However, their suspicions turned out to be correct!

I strongly object to this proposal. I also now object to Aquind doing any drilling at all in Portsmouth as they clearly cannot be trusted. They may renege on any agreement and change the parameters without any consultation with the people it is affecting.

Yours faithfully
