14 October 2017

The Hinkley Point C (Nuclear Generating Station) Order 2013 – Sl. 2013 No 648
Application for a Non Material Change in relation to the Hinkley Point C Development Site Consultation under Regulation 7 of the Infrastructure Planning (Changes to, and Revocation of, Developmental Consent Orders) Regulations 2011 Representation from Stogursey Parish Council (HPC Project – Non-material change 3 – Main Development Site)

- Stogursey Parish Council (SPC) question why the parish council, as host parish were not included in, nor informed of, the consultation process of the above application to vary the provisions made in the Developmental Consent Order (DCO) at Hinkley Point C. SPC were actively involved in the DCO enquiry in its initial stages and has a continued desire to be involved in all aspects that affect the community.

- The application states that HPC seeks consent for non-material changes; however the parish council feel that the redesign of some of the permanent buildings, the erection of additional pipework and an alteration to the alignment of the sea wall are actually material changes. SPC seek explanation of how these changes are considered to be non-material changes.

- The redesign of some of the permanent buildings, which include an increase in size of the waste fuel store, will be close to the shore line and foot paths and will have an enormous negative visual impact – it will be the last building standing on site, even after the ‘C’ station has been de-commissioned in 100 years’ time and will only add to the cumulative degradation of the area – this is considered a material change in planning terms. As host parish, SPC strongly request a site specific meeting at HPC for local councillors to specifically see the Sea Wall; to see where the additional pipework will be erected and to understand what discharges are expected. Most importantly SPC would like to see where the fuel waste store will be in conjunction with the site boundary/sea wall.
To foster continued engagement with the community, SPC also strongly request that EDF host a Public Meeting in Stogursey to fully explain and outline exact details of their proposals and to provide the parish the opportunity to be part of the consultation. There is a continuing need for a full exchange of information. To that end you are invited to the next meeting of Stogursey Parish Council on Tuesday 14 November 2017 at 6.45pm to address the community and answer any questions that residents may have. Please let me know if this date and time is convenient to you.
