Dear Sir or Madam,

I was extremely concerned about the plans shown in Stogursey last Tuesday by the HPC Communications team.

The increased height, length and width of the Interim Spent Fuel Store is going to have a considerable visual impact on the surrounding area for now and many years to come. This is clearly a material change to the plans.

I am also concerned with what appears to be a change of storage method for what is obviously highly toxic waste. (From wet storage to dry storage). When asked why this change was to take place, there was very limited explanation. I feel that changes of this magnitude need close monitoring and the public needs transparency and clear explanation. In the USA storage of this type is licenced and monitored closely. This change arouses anxiety in the local community and clear explanation needs to be given both to government and the public. We need to see the 'paper trail' on how these decisions are made. The meeting glossed over the fact this waste will be around for about 250,000 years and there is currently nowhere for it to go after Hinkley.

Best wishes,

Helga Staddon
