Dear [REDACTED]

Thanks again for this, but I am afraid I have to withdraw from tomorrow's Preliminary Meeting -

[REDACTED] My remarks

would in general have merely been that:

Given the well-attested failure of the Applicant to engage adequately with an alarmingly wide range of consultees over the three/four stages so far, it would be helpful for the ExA to ensure that future commitments from the Applicant are rigorously tested and deadlines enforced.

I would draw the ExA's attention on this point specifically to the Environment Agency's remarks in their submission about the way in which the Applicant has '..knowingly chosen..' to submit at this late stage an inadequate Flood Risk Assessment. Trust is lost by this deliberate manoeuvring, and should be withdrawn.

Apologies again

Andrew McDonald
