I am writing to voice my sincere concern about the whole issue around Sizewell C, and objection to building it.

The fact that it is a coastline that is eroding and we know full well about sea level rising in the near future. We cannot hold the water back sufficiently – surely building another nuclear power station at Sizewell is madness.

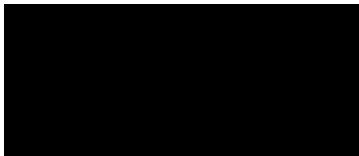

There is not enough potable water in the area to build Sizewell C.

The issues of power shortage is not addressed by Sizewell C as it will be 20 years before it is producing electricity – too late!! We should be putting the huge costs of building this power station into renewables that can be brought online so much quicker.

The issue of the nuclear waste – a very nasty gift for future generations of this planet.

Please do not give planning consent to building Sizewell C.

Yours sincerely
Mary Smyth
