To whom it may concern

Please do the right thing and advise the Secretary of State for Business, Energy and Industrial Strategy, Kwasi Karteng that Sizewell C is not the way forward to a net zero future.

It is no longer an extreme comment to say that the planet has reached its tipping point on climate change and therefore work has to be done NOW to slow and reverse the devastating impacts climate change will have on the planet and the human race.

The huge negative impacts that it will have on the Suffolk Coastline cannot be measured, but the loss of yet more species from habitat destruction will be off the scale and will be the starting point of further loss and degraded coast.

Nuclear power is not the way forward. More electric vehicles will still need road space and parking. More energy will only fuel more consumption and unnecessary production and transportation. The earth cannot cope. Better ways are possible and achievable in a much shorter timescale if more power were given to local communities to help themselves.

Education, not exploitation is the way forward here and I urge you to be part of the solution and not part of the next problem.

Yours sincerely
