To Whom It May Concern,

I would like to voice my objection and concerns with regards to the proposed building of Sizewell C. I will mention just a few of the reasons why I am opposing this plan:

The Government seems to believe that Nuclear Energy is green; this is not the case; uranium is a depleting resource and nuclear waste will remain radioactive for 100,000 years - this is not a pleasant legacy to leave for our children. We need to have some forward thinking with regards to generating energy which means both developing and funding real green alternatives that do not impact our planet in a detrimental way.

Sizewell is on the edge of an area of AONB; the habitat loss caused by the building of another nuclear power station does not bear thinking about. I suggest that anyone in doubt of this should visit RSPB Minsmere where they have an information board visualising the impact of Sizewell C on the area: it is not a vision to be proud of.

Finally, the potential impact and disruption for the local area is depressing - the roads are narrow - they are not made to service a monstrous building site. Local people did not sign up for this; many people choose to live here because of the peace and tranquility that this coastline offers. Disruption on this scale is simply not fair.

I strongly urge you to think again and examine your conscience before making any decisions; think about the planet and the legacy that is being left for our children, in my mind, nuclear power is a backward step.

Yours faithfully,

Hannah Brown
