Planning Inspectorate,

Today the government's handling of Covid is said to be the worst public health programme to date. Sizewell C has far worse potential for public harm, by creating a deadly time bomb of toxic waste for which there is no certain safe containment particularly within the known geologically unstable Suffolk coastline.

The energy that would be required by all the aspects of its construction, dwarfs the energy needs purported it would supply, before shutdown, if possible, proves necessary.

Now that we are finally realising the fragility of the natural world and the certain devastating consequences on earthly life through the energy dependant greedy human lifestyle that has developed, such a precious area of biodiversity needs total safeguarding, not an act of damage and attempted repair.

Crediting you with some, please come to your senses, see and defy, the powers that are forwarding the project of Sizewell C.
