It's hard to believe that in the midst of a climate crisis, nuclear energy is still being proposed as a solution, rather than renewables, energy storage, clean heat and energy efficiency. The nuclear option is notoriously slow, much more expensive than the renewable alternatives, and would create a shocking nuclear waste problem for the future, which has been swept under the carpet for far too long.

Please understand that our energy needs for the future need to be catered for by the quickest roll-out of renewable energy possible and urgently support the green sector.
