Dear Planning Department

Why spend vast sums of money on reactors that have a poor track record and to date not been built on time or within budget

This power station will not even be carbon neutral by 2040 and that's if built on time going by all previous projects it will be at least ten years delayed that is 2050 before being carbon neutral, this station will be out dated before it's complete.

Defra's own web site shows that rising sea levels make the site extremely vulnerable
