Dear Gareth Leigh, Head of Energy Infrastructure Planning,

Thank you for inviting me as an interested party to comment on the link in your correspondence.

I have looked at the information given by the applicant and that written in by concerned bodies.

The fact of the matter is this proposed construction is too big for the site on which it might be built.

This area of East Suffolk is very rural.

This area of East Suffolk is very dry; there's very little rainfall.

The area is known for its opportunities for walking, sailing, sea fishing, swimming, bird watching, cycling and other leisure pursuits. All of these will have a drastic negative impact from the proposed development.

Habitats will be lost.

Rare species could be lost.

The locality will never be the same.

Another nuclear waste store will be on the coast.

Sizewell C would be very expensive.

Energy provided by Sizewell C will be slow coming.

Alternative more sustainable methods of producing energy are less expensive, be available more quickly and have no legacy of a poison for future generations.

Sizewell C makes no sense.

I hope the Secretary of State considers all the points against Sizewell C wisely.

Regards,
Janet Fendley,
