Observations On The Applicant's Response To Colin King's Rep.122.

I observe that Vattenfall have not answered my question, in my representation, regarding how the substation surface water drainage system will be maintained, after the project is decommissioned. The flooding issue will be just as serious, after the project has ran it's life.

My other observation is, Vattenfall's opinion, that building a massive infrastructure, of this type will not affect the rights of way over the land, where the substation, cable corridor, and National Grid extension is being built. That to me makes no sense.

As Colin George King's assets were all passed down accordingly, and the two farming businesses run essentially unchanged, I suggest the rights passed down, and still stand.

Sincerely, Colin King.                      ref:20012468.
