

Submission ID: 10845

It is imperative that future UK food security considerations are included in the examination. Land use in this area is primarily food production and is vital to our future security.