I don't think much more could be added to the various comments/views/opinions than that already submitted. All this deliberating smacks of wanting to confuse or browbeat the objectors. These huge projects are ruining the countryside and should be in a pipeline under the soil or sea. If this were the case we would benefit two ways, the other keeping crops growing to feed the people of this island. Look what the war in Ukraine did for crops. Successive governments never learn by past mistakes. Wake up someone, anyone, and do the right thing and listen to the people of this country before it's too late.
