Regarding Natural Englands response to the SoS, I am completely astonished that a decision can be made on incomplete evidence. Natural England have not completed their study, there is no hard evidence provided, therefore the only conclusion must be to reject Sunnica's proposal.

The landscape and visual impact provided is completely bias. The flat, agricultural land would be changed forever, this is Fenland. I understand the landscape professionals have been employed by SNTS who complete disagree with Sunnica's expert on the landscaping. There needs to be further evidence taken into consideration, this is definitely not the best site for a 'solar farm'.
