Whilst it was considered acceptable by the Applicant to undertake the Consultation with residents during the pandemic and lockdown, given that part of the Preliminary Meeting will establish procedures and any other matters that appear to be both relevant and important to the Secretary of State's decision, does [REDACTED] consider that excluding over 30% of the Wisbech population from being informed of the Applicant's proposal is acceptable and fair? The 30%+ is made up of East Europeans who predominantly serve in our local factories and despite my requesting the Applicant provide some information to them, has chosen not to.
