

This region's 10,000 acres of industrial solar sites will encircle 30 communities. Proposals of Gate Burton, West Burton, Cottam Solar & Tillbridge.

I knew when I moved to Lincolnshire that I was embracing a life in the country with subpar amenities, no neighbourhood stores and no public transport.

For 40 years, these developments have been requested. Due to the fact that people would only move to Lincolnshire for rural living, people are already having trouble selling their properties.

The young will leave for greener pastures if these 10,000 acres turn these settlements into villages surrounded by industrial regions, and over time, only the old will remain without anybody to care for them because the younger people will have departed.

These developments will destroy any community we have and will desimate the economy and well being of its people.

The developer uses historical examples to support his case for why this development should take place.

For projects of this magnitude and scope, the UK has no precedent!

Given how little electricity it will really produce, the land grab is outrageous.
