

I have attended all of the Open Floor hearings for all of the solar factories running concurrently with Gate Burton. At each one the dominant theme is the cumulative effect of all 3 of these schemes. All the attendees of the Broxholme Parish Meeting feel this too. Yet at every opportunity the developers advocates blindingly dismiss this as an issue. The Inspectors running the meeting must, of course, stick to the established procedure. However they consistently make the ambiguous statement that they take into consideration cumulative effects but must consider the application in isolation. This is a dichotomy they are at a loss to resolve and the developers take advantage of this. As all of the 3 developments will be decided upon with months of each other a chance to judge the effects of a massive adjacent solar factory will never be taken in to account. This will be catastrophic for the rural hamlet of Broxholme which could wind up in a pincer of black glass.
