

This massive use of food producing land threatens our national food security. Food is totally essential to life and being dependant on imports for it as we presently are is extremely short sighted.

We have only to look at the impact of the Ukraine war to see this. After the wars of 1914-8 and 1939-45 it was declared that never again should the UK be dependant on others for food. Do we never learn!

This development which ruins food producing land for us and our children would be yet another dangerous decision taken by the government.

It is a case of solar panels versus food crops. Food crops can be grown nowhere else. Solar panels can be put many other places, every brown site, every roof , all unused land.

In a letter from Rt Hon Robert Jenrick MP to Sir Oliver Heald QC MP, in August 2021, The National Planning Policy Framework placed great importance on agriculture and food production.

The wrecking of the countryside for the inhabitants is of course an important consideration but town dwellers and wealthy developers are unlikely to be worried. When we have NO FOOD and are waiting in queues for our food ration, it will impact us all.
