

What consideration is being made for the wildlife in particular the deer, badgers and foxes that move across the fields to the various pockets of woodland?

The amount of land that is being included in this proposal will cause so much disruption especially if high fencing is put up like on Camela Lane. Already I have seen deer distressed as they cannot find a way to their woods to protect themselves. I've seen deer trapped within the fencing as the plans have included a woodland. The deer, badger and foxes will be forced onto the roads to move around so more will be killed. People say they will get used to it, why should they? Or they will learn but they are animals not human beings and human logic is not their thought process.

Badgers and foxes roam as well and will not be able to. Isn't this cruelty?

Are we no better than those countries that are robbing the habitats of the tigers, elephants, rhinos and orangutans?
