

As a resident in the locality of West Lindsay District Council in Ingham I oppose the solar plans for our area. They are complete folly without any regard to real science or evidence that the UK is a suitable location for mass solar farms. I'm also aghast at the reuse of farmland for this madness, once the farmers have solar panels on their land they will never return to farming, and you (the government, the planners and the contractors) would have ruined a crucial element of UK infrastructure with impact of less home-grown food pushing up the reliance of imported food. Farming would not come back it would slowly become extinct. Can anyone realise the potential damage that solar will have on the country? Please stop.
