

Very much against solar on agricultural land. This country imports a large amount of food and we are very much reliant on imports. We should be aiming for food sustainability.

This country has abundant roof space at the correct orientation for solar panels which should be encouraged.

As evidenced over the last 2 cloudy months solar has its limitations and we should be looking at a wider range of energy sources to achieve sustainability and reduce imports,