

Submission ID: 33458

This project is far too large for the benefit it will provide also it is using valuable agricultural land which has provided food for the nation for generations.

There is a place for solar energy but not on this scale as it produces electricity when it is least needed ie when the sun is shining. There is not any way to store this energy for future use.