

How can one justify using quality arable land for 40 years, what happens if population in this country gets bigger, we cannot import food the list is endless. No one is talking about the Rain Forest which is as I speak daily being destroyed, yet the net 0 agenda is being pushed, why, because there are grants available. Our omissions are practically 0 anyway. The people that live in these areas if these huge solar farms go ahead will lose their livelihood etc, selling one's property, who would want to buy. Would the owners of these properties be compensated? No! Only winners are the landowners and those that run the Solar Farm Companies. This is short sighted planning, why aren't we putting solar on new builds?! Brown field sites etc. Also to use huge amount of acreage of land for roughly 140,000 homes is that economical?! What if down the line new eco friendly power can be supplied without using solar farms, will these farms be void in 40 years. [REDACTED] is on a role to ruin the countryside and dictate to us ordinary folk, if you do not like what we are doing tough! If that isn't dictatorship I do not know what is. [REDACTED] has shares in these companies too.... is that honest with an open dialogue what is right for this country, or is it.. my mission is what I believe in! Democracy in this country is disappearing. No wonder the mood of the country is depressed in 7 months what with the economy slowly dying, and those in charge telling us ordinary folk, your voice doesn't matter, we know best and we will overturn any dialogue you may wish to have with this Government what is happening where you live. Unbelievable to be honest, those in the past fought wars for our democracy...no wonder many think now what were these wars fought for!? Our voice isn't being listened too...
