

This solar farm cannot go ahead. Nobody wants it apart from those making money. It will bring no benefit to the local community. We don't need all that power in our area but we need farmland for food, countryside for nature. Not an eyesore which will be a hive for criminality, destroy wildlife and reduce value of homes. The rural Landscape will lost forever. We do not want them to explode or catch fire which they have done and we don't want the noise and disruption to the local rural roads and greenbelt. Net zero is a myth and not needed, and the U.K. does not cause any pollution to the environment, we are too small. Oil and gas and fracking is less damaging to the environment and more efficient. Yorkshire is for farming and foods not a blanket of black metal panels! The arguements against and local community are all against it. The government have no mandate to do such a thing in our area.
