SECTION 48, PLANNING ACT 2008 REGULATION 4, THE INFRASTRUCTURE PLANNING (APPLICATIONS: PRESCRIBED FORMS AND PROCEDURE) REGULATIONS 2009

RIVER THAMES SCHEME NOTICE PUBLICISING A PROPOSED APPLICATION FOR A DEVELOPMENT CONSENT ORDER

Notice is hereby given that the Environment Agency (EA) and Surrey County Council (SCC) (the “Applicants”) (whose registered offices are at Horizon House, Deane Road, Bristol, BS1 5QH and Woodhatch Place, 11 Cockshot Hill, Reigate, Surrey, RH2 8EF respectively) propose to make an application (“the Application”) for development consent under section 37 of the Planning Act 2008 to the Secretary of State for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs. The River Thames Scheme has been designated as a project of national significance following Secretary of State direction under section 35 of the Planning Act 2008.

The Application relates to the River Thames Scheme which runs through Runnymede Borough (between Egham Hythe and Chertsey) and through Spelthorne Borough (between Littleton North lake and the Desborough Cut). The Application will also include other related works within Elmbridge Borough (at Desborough Island and Molesey Weir), London Borough of Richmond upon Thames (at Teddington Weir) and London Borough of Hounslow (temporary provision of car parks).

Once built, the flood channel will be considered in legal terms to be a ‘flood defence structure’ and it is intended that it will also be a ‘main river’. Further information on what this means is contained in the statutory consultation brochure and on the consultation website set out below.

The Application will, among other things, seek development consent for:

- The creation of a new flood channel in two sections through the boroughs of Runnymede and Spelthorne, totalling over 5 miles (8.5km) long;
- Capacity improvements to the Sunbury, Molesey and Teddington weirs to increase the amount of water that can flow through them. This would involve installing more gates that can be opened when river levels rise;
- Capacity improvements to the River Thames through lowering the middle part of the bed of the River Thames downstream of Desborough Cut;
- New green open spaces associated with the flood channel, with access for local communities and facilities such as sports fields, accessible pathway network, nature play spaces and associated new landscape features;
- Priority areas for habitat creation, enhancement and mitigation, which link existing and new wildlife corridors, improve fish passage and build upon the network of existing wildlife sites;
- New or improved active travel provision associated with the flood channel corridor in areas of enhanced public connection, linking to the existing network and two new pedestrian and cycle bridges across the River Thames at Chertsey and Desborough Island;
- Changes to the road layout and utilities, including temporary diversions during construction;
- Associated infrastructure, mitigation and enhancement measures and other ancillary works;
- The temporary stopping up, alteration or diversion (if required) of any street and/or public rights of way;

Hundreds of Post Office victims to get convictions overturned

- Sunak tells Commons law will acquit all found guilty in Horizon scandal
- Senior lawyers issue warning over danger of undermining judiciary

Peter Walker
Daniel Boffey
Rowena Mason

Hundreds of post office operators are to have their convictions quashed by parliament within months in an unprecedented move designed to draw a line under one of the biggest miscarriages of justice in British history.

Senior lawyers warned, however, that the decision to pass a bill overturning so many court verdicts was constitutionally extraordinary and risked undermining the independence of the judiciary if it was seen as a precedent for future cases.

Announcing the move, less than a week after the broadcast of an ITV drama catapulted the long-running saga into the political mainstream, Rishi Sunak told the Commons the legislation would acquit all those convicted in the Horizon IT scandal.

Anyone who has a conviction overturned will be given an upfront offer of £600,000 or allowed to proceed

At least this many people will be cleared and receive compensation under the new scheme with a detailed assessment process if they feel they are owed more.

Those who are part of a separate group litigation, who have already received some money, will be offered £75,000 each.

It was reported that the bill of at least £450m would be footed by the taxpayer.

Setting out details of the plan to MPs, the business minister responsible for the Post Office, Kevin Hollinrake, conceded that the blanket approach could mean some people fraudulently receiving compensation but that the risk was worth it to end the long wait.

Sunak told prime minister's questions: "This is one of the greatest miscarriages of justice in our nation's history."

"People who worked hard to serve their communities had their lives and their reputations destroyed through absolutely no fault of their own. The victims must get justice and compensation."

He added: "We will make sure that the truth comes to light, we right the wrongs of the past and the victims get the justice they deserve."

The plan won immediate backing from Labour, meaning it will pass parliament without hindrance.

It was also greeted with approval from Alan Bates - the postmaster who has campaigned for 20 years to expose the scandal, and after whom the ITV drama, Mr Bates vs the Post Office, was named.

US warns of reprisals for Red Sea shipping attack

Patrick Wintour
Dan Sabbagh

The US and the UK warned yesterday that there would be "consequences" after warships from both countries repelled a barrage of 21 rockets, drones and cruise missiles apparently fired at western warships in the Red Sea by Houthi rebels.

Antony Blinken, the US secretary of state, said attacks by the Yemeni group on international shipping could prompt a military response, amid speculation that Washington could bomb military targets in an attempt to prevent future raids.

"I'm not going to telegraph or preview anything that might happen," Blinken said in Bahrain. "All I can tell you again, we've made clear ... that if this continues, as it did yesterday, there will be consequences."

Grant Shapps, the UK defence secretary, told reporters to "watch this space" at a press briefing and directly accused Iran of helping the Yemeni rebels with intelligence and military surveillance.

Shapps said Britain, its western allies and Saudi Arabia were "all agreed" that the series of attacks on warships and merchant shipping in the southern Red Sea could not continue, and he did not rule out striking Houthi military targets on land.

Late last night the UN Security Council adopted a resolution condemning and demanding an immediate halt to Houthi attacks. The resolution, sponsored by the United States and Japan, said at least two dozen Houthi attacks were impeding global commerce "and undermine navigational rights and freedoms as well as regional peace and security".

There has been speculation that the US and its allies, which have so far been reacting to 12 →
