1.1 ANGLESEY AND GWYNEDD JOINT LOCAL DEVELOPMENT PLAN

1.1.1 Local planning policy is provided within the Anglesey and Gwynedd Joint Local Development Plan (JLDP). The relevant policies have been considered in relation to the assessment of geology, hydrogeology and ground conditions of the Proposed Development. Table 1 provides a summary of relevant policies.

Policy Name/Number	Where this is covered in the Geology, Hydrology and Ground Conditions Chapter	Compliance Points
Strategic Policy PS19: Conserving and where appropriate enhancing the natural environment	Section 7 baseline (identification of receptors, sources and pathways), section 8 potential effects and section 9 residual effects.	The chapter identifies geological and hydrogeological receptors and examines potential effects and provides methodology for mitigation to safeguard and potentially, enhance geological and hydrogeological quality, importance and diversity as proposed in Strategic Policy SP19.
Policy AMG 6: Protecting Sites of Regional or Local Significant	Section 7 baseline.	A search for sites of Regionally Important Geological/Geomorphic Sites (RIGGS) has been undertaken and is presented in section 7 baseline. No potential effects associated with the Proposed Development have been identified.
Strategic Policy PS 21: Waste Management	Section 7 baseline, section 8 potential effects, section 9 mitigation and residual effects	Identification of current and former Waste Management facilities, and the identification of Brownfield Sites is covered under section 7 baseline. The

Further information is provided as the Outline Waste Management Plan (Document 7.11) and the Outline Materials Management Plan (Document 7.12)
Policy GWA 3: Radioactive Waste Management
PS22: Minerals	Section 7 baseline, section 8 potential effects, section 9 mitigation and residual effects	Mineral Protection Areas have been identified within section 7 baseline but are not considered to be a receptor in terms of the Environmental Statement. Further information is provided within the Planning Statement (Document 7.4) in terms of policy compliance.
