To the Chairman of the Planning Inspectorate for Triton Knoll

Dear Kelvin Macdonald and fellow members of the Examining Board,

Having attended the open meeting at the New England Hotel Boston and spent several hours listening to the other Hearings I would firstly like to say how grateful as a effected landowner/farmer I am to you and your panel for the proffessional way the process has been handled you have all seemed to grasp to complex issues a scheme like this will cause to many people. I have nothing further to add to my written or vocal concerns which still stand, having listened to the developers response to many of the questions put forward I am still unconvinced about the success of this project. My main point is this, when you have ticked all the boxes ,given many assurances by the developers that they have everyones interest at heart, been told they will go away and work on the detail which often is lacking in their plans , who will police the operation ? who will I be dealing with ? this company that company a contractor a sub contractor ?

With all due respect to you and your panel, you will soon move onto another project and in the next few years if this project is given the green light my fear is that they will do what they want, that all the promises will be watered down to suit them. Please if you do God forbid give them permission to proceed, please protect us with the proper legal detailed requirements and independant policing of the process we deserve with penalties attached if they change the rules.

Your Sincerely
Steven Lunn
