The full length of the frontage is 2,4 km (300 m for Kendall's Wharf and 2,1 km for Eastern Road). The sea defences are being raised to +4,8 m AOD along the frontage to accommodate a 1 in 500 Standard of Protection (SOP). The road raising and steel sheet piles of Kendall's Wharf works will be raised to a lower level as set back from the coast. The Kendall's Wharf defences tie in with Anchorage park embankment defences (constructed in 2016) in the North and are set landward of Kendall's Wharf aggregates, who are responsible for their own flood protection. The first c. 150 m of sea defence will be a raised earth embankment with a 3 m crest and continuation of the 2 m wide coastal path. This will tie into an area of road raising landward of Kendall's Wharf. South of the road will be a 150 m steel sheet pile wall which will tie into the coastal defences at Eastern Road. The scope of the works for Eastern Road, at summary level, comprises of the construction of a reinforced seawall, including sheet pile and bearing pile installation with local realignment. Part of this will be an encasement and part new sea wall with a stepped revetment. The construction of replacement slipways and access steps will also be required.
