Dear Mr Stephens

I write to ask you to reconsider your decision to 'not accept' my objection into the examination for the reason being, that I was indeed given the opportunity to speak at the very 'last minute' at the (Open Floor Hearing), with hardly any time to prepare a well thought out and considered objection.

I live in the close proximity of the proposed cable and I feel that I have many valid and important points to put across. I strongly object to the interconnector cable because of the landfall of it and the sensitive area surrounding where the cable is proposed to be inserted into the ground.

Yours sincerely

Paula Savage

Dear Ms Savage,

Thank you for your email.

In the interests of fairness to all parties, I regret to inform you that your representations have not been accepted into the Examination as they were submitted after Deadline 1 (06 October 2020) and our subsequent discretionary extension cut-off date of 12 October 2020. However, please be assured that we have already accepted a substantial amount of representations from persons that have not registered as Interested Parties; these have been published to the project page of the National Infrastructure website: <https://infrastructure.planninginspectorate.gov.uk/projects/south-east/aquind-interconnector/?ipcsection=docs> and will be taken into account by the Examining Authority.

All submissions from the Applicant and Interested Persons will be published to the project page. You may wish to follow the process of the application by registering to receive e-mail updates during the course of the Examination. The opportunity to do so is on the project page.

Subject: Objection

To whom it may concern

I'd like to put forward my objection to the proposed interconnector cable to be laid throughout the city of Portsmouth. There are numerous reasons why I feel that Portsmouth would suffer immensely if carried out.

1. The area of the landfall of the cable, is an historical landfill sight with vast amounts of asbestos.
2. There are many protected species with natural wild habitats in the area of the landfall of the cable.
3. Portsmouth is densely populated and highly polluted, it would increase the already alarming levels of pollution.
4. The area is one of Portsmouth's only areas of natural biodiversity.
5. This proposed project has caused much anxiety amongst those who hold allotments, under the given circumstances, a place to find comfort and escapism should not be in any way jeopardised.
6. The energy that Aquind are proposing to offer through the cable, isn't a green or renewable energy, therefore needs to be considered otherwise...

I hope my points are clear and that you take them all into careful consideration.

Yours faithfully

Paula Savage
