Dear Planning Inspectorate,

I wish to object to the AQUIND Project on the following grounds:

1. None of the Strategic and Ethic issues have not been addressed in the examination process, which was for the most part was ticking boxes that 'this or that' regulation had been addressed in the design.
2. The source of finance has not been made public, which is a gross failing considering the close Russia connection of the AQUIND Directors and the rumour of embezzlement of Russian State funds.
3. The strategic issues relating to placing a significant dependancy on the French Power System to supply up to 5% of our required demand. This makes the UK power supply subject to ransom by the French politic leadership.

Finally, there is a misconception that by devolving service provision to private enterprise that the country will benefit. This is a total delusion, based upon the idea that UK gets 'something for nothing'. The fact is the UK will pay for what it receives and many times over, plus the interest on funding stream.

Regards
Barry Scott
