I will like to object to the Aquind interconnector for many reasons, I think the most important thing is the destruction of wildlife habitats which take years to form. The brent geese and migratory birds that visit Portsmouth in winter is very special and these birds have particular nesting and feeding places and any disruption would harm their habitats. I have had an allotment for many years, which is a beautiful place for all wildlife including lizards and slowworms. People come for the peace and quiet of a very densely populated city with lots of pollution. The allotment is the lungs of Portsmouth. Portsmouth is an island with 3 roads in and out of the city. We don't need more disruption here. Thanks for reading.
