To who it may concern.

I'm a resident of Portsmouth, where I live and my Allotment will be deeply effected by the planned route of the cable's.

My Allotment is right in the path of the cable, I've spent hundreds of hour tending my plot, its my mental health support.

For the city, its a ridiculous idea, Portsmouth is heavily developed city with few green and natural spaces, the plans run right though these areas.

Of all the places to put the the cable, this is the most disruptive, they will have to dig up one of the two major roads in and out of the city.

The men behind the plan, have paid many members of the Conservative party lots of money. They are Russian who paid to get citizenship. Even it is above board, its looks really bad.

The French don't want it..we don't want it.

There's 64 miles where they can bring the cable ashore and only disrupt cows.

The people of Portsmouth will flight this all the way. Till it goes away.

I've worked hard all my life, I have bought and paid for my own home on my own.

The cable will run right outside my home 18 inches underground. What's that going to do to my property value.

Cables have brust in flames, there's health concerns living that close to EMPs .

What else will go in the trench with the cable.

Does this really help? By the time its finished it will have working life of 40 years.

We will flight them trenches and we will never

Lisa Keel.
