I am contacting you to register my objection to the proposed Aquind Interconnector.

My family and I live in Portsmouth and regularly use the open spaces in Eastney and along the east of the island that will be severely disrupted, if not totally destroyed, by the project. The work involved in digging and tunnelling will also cause huge disruption to traffic in an area which, even at the best of times, is already heavily congested.

As I understand it, permission has been refused for this project once, and since that time nothing has changed. Neither of Portsmouth's MPs support Aquind and there is nothing but opposition to the project in the city or the areas to the north that will also be impacted by the connector.

The only reason this project could be given the go-ahead is because it benefits someone who has enough power and money to play the UK's judicial system. There have been enough examples of such corruption outweighing the common good in recent years to last this country a lifetime. Please do not let this be another.

Yours faithfully

Mrs J Pack
