I want to submit my objection to the aquind interconnector project on the grounds that It is not needed,
It is going to cost too much money and there seems to be no cost restraints, Deliverability is going to be more than problematic and the inconvenience to the locality is severe
But most of all the digging up of all the beautiful natural areas all along the proposed route (which will block one of the two main routes onto the island causing chaos for our islands economy) and are also homes to many hardworking people trying to reclaim our natural environment. Digging will disturb many of our sophisticated delicate ecosystems which will take decades to rebuild when we need them most, right now.
I wholeheartedly disagree with the need for this project, it's been rejected once before, I hope it never comes to fruition.

Yours sincerely
Helen Goss
