Dear Mr Massingham

Planning Act 2008 (as amended)

Application by the Highways Agency (now Highways England) for an Order Granting Development Consent for the proposed M4 Junctions 3 to 12 Smart Motorway

Availability of maps

Thank you for your letter dated 25 September 2015.

The Planning Inspectorate does not oversee the copyright statements of any local authorities in England and Wales. There is no requirement under the Planning Act 2008 (PA2008) for the Inspectorate to make definitive maps of England and Wales available on its website, or elsewhere.

With regards our own requirements, in making its recommendation about whether development consent should be granted, the Examining Authority (ExA) must have regard to the matters set out in section 104 of the PA2008. In doing so, the ExA can only make this recommendation based on its consideration of the evidence submitted to the examination; all of which will be published to the National Infrastructure Planning website.

If you require any clarification in relation to the content of this letter, this will most helpfully be sought by telephone. Please do not hesitate to contact me on the direct line provided below.

Yours sincerely

Richard Price
