Re: Stonehenge

To the Secretary of State for Transport, UK:

Some years ago I visited Stonehenge and Woodhenge and other notable ancient sacred sites in your lovely countryside. It was a wonderful visit. Among the little moments I remember seeing a few loose flowers tucked into a small ledge in a great rock.

So now Stonehenge is for sale for the convenience of saving time for automobiles. I thought you all were smarter than that.

I urge, nay, beg you to deny the permits needed to implement the A303 Dual Carriageway (Divided Highway) extension: A303 Amesbury to Berwick Down Development.

Most Sincerely,

Susu Jeffrey
