Good morning

Have the new plans really changed at all? Not in any significant way it seems.

The main issues that needed redress were the closeness of the proposed road to the Stonehenge Site and the increased carbon omissions.

Carbon omissions should be reduced, not increased.

Stonehenge is iconic and a national treasure that should be preserved for all future generations. It should not be put at risk. Why has a new route for the road not been chosen that would be less damaging than the original route?

Please reconsider your plans, you will fail again to get them passed if significant alterations aren't made.

Yours sincerely

Paula Harvey
