The difficulties with the A303 scheme have still not been fully addressed by the current proposal. This unique World Heritage site has not yet been fully excavated or understood but it clear that we have a duty to protect it and take complete notice of objections from the bodies who have responsibility for it.

Additionally, as climate change concern increases, patterns of travel must change, and it is contrary to national and many local policies to facilitate road traffic in the way proposed. As a resident of the South West I use the route to travel to South London ( less frequently than I did as I have increased my train travel to reduce pollution). When I drive the journey, I would much prefer to sit in the traffic jam if necessary than to have any part in the damage to this amazing place.
