Hi

A massive amount of money will be spent on either a tunnel or dual carriageway at Stonehenge. The main problem with that area is the drivers slowing down to see Stonehenge.

The obvious answer would be to erect a high fence in the field between the stones and the road so that it could not be viewed by passing cars. A fence would not affect the historical area as much as roadworks and would be a fraction of the cost. This must be a solution to the traffic delays there.

Kind Regards
