Dear Sir / Madam,

I am writing to state my objection to allowing for the proposed tunnel to be built.

I have driven past Stonehenge numerous times over many decades and always find it fascinating to see the stones if even for a moment when driving past. It is a truly remarkable site and I believe the ground around it should never be disturbed for the building of a tunnel as it is a sacred site and should be respected as such. It is a world heritage site drawing people in from around the world to view something unique. We live in a self propelled fast age where we believe that spending £ millions and destroying valuable countryside just to gain a few minutes in time will change our lives. I find absolutely nothing wrong in being slowed down or queuing a bit on the A 303 as a reminder that this is a truly unique place and should evoke feelings of wonder and mystery and questions. I ask please act with mindfulness, care and respect for this special place which should not succumb to our speed frenzy world.

With thanks
Yours sincerely
Peter Brinch
