Dear Secretary:

To a lay person like myself it seems obvious that a World Heritage Site--one of the most famous in the country--should receive better protection from modern intrusion.

I understand there is the possibility for a re-examination of the the Development Consent Order. This seems fitting. Have alternatives been fully vetted? Have the cost of even doing this project been updated? Do you know what impact carbon emissions will have on the Stones? I assume the World Heritage Committee has weighed in; have you attended to their comments?

Please re-exam this decision. It seems a poor choice.

Sincerely,
Betty Winholtz
