Hello

I was surprised, well not really knowing how these things work...money above all considerations..that I am still required to point out the obvious.

I live in East Yorkshire. I'm from the Black Country originally so, apart from visiting this wonderful place accompanying friends doing their Silver Duke of Edinburgh award I have no axe to grind.

However, should one not take into account the World Heritage decisions of 2021 and fully consider alternatives? I believe the Ministry of Transport/ Minister have just regurgitated old ideas. 'They' obviously want to save money whilst pretending 'they' wish to preserve a National treasure, for want of a better word.

Paying lip service to alternatives is not the answer. We, as a country, are paying dearly for solutions to the recent pandemic and need to recoup...however squandering and not protecting our historical inheritance is not the answer.

I do not want my grand children and their grandchildren to say." What do you mean?" "Oh, Stonehenge" " Well you can only see them on line"!... Or "You can only see them with traffic roaring around them"!

For goodness sake there must be a better solution.

Yours Judith Jarvis
