Dear sir, the very idea that a road should in any way damage Stonehenge or the area immediately around it is so absurd as to be laughable. Why not put a road through Buckingham Palace? Or build a hotel on top of St Paul's. Some things are far too important to be compromised. Stonehenge is one of the most important ancient monuments in the world. Don't allow anyone to mess with it. The existing road is bad enough and was a mistake at the time. Please don't make it worse!
