To whom it may concern,

I cannot believe that in these times of great upheaval the proposal to build a tunnel past Stonehenge is still being considered.

There is potential to do great harm to the site.

A far more affordable option would be dualing of the existing stretch of the A303 or re-routing the said road.

We seem to live in an age when even the most ludicrous and fanciful notions are given every opportunity of success.

I earnestly hope that a sensible decision will result and the tunnel will be scrapped.

Yours.

Anthony Mills.
