I object to the current proposal for the A303 road scheme at Stonehenge.

I agree with the principal finding of the Advisory Mission in its report that it would have an adverse impact on this World Heritage Site. Ideally, the scheme should be abandoned and a southern bypass route explored. At the very least the western limit of the tunnel should be extended to the World Heritage Site boundary.

That the scheme is unacceptable to the Government's own advisors and the UNESCO World Heritage Committee should be evidence enough that this is a flawed project.
