Objections to the Highways Commission proceeding with the proposed tunnel beneath the WHSite at Stonehenge

Their latest response does not vary from the last which has not changed from that which has been challenged

What are, or were, the objections to the southern route which were dismissed with no explanation?

What does this decision, if it goes ahead do to our world standing which is in a low state at present?

Destroying thousands of years of our history cannot possibly be justified for a road plan, the use of which will be out of date within a decade.
