

I live in Harpenden. I strongly object to Luton Airport's proposals on the following grounds:

Noise from aircraft flying low overhead already affects quality of life in the local area. Increased flight numbers would make the problem intolerable.

Air pollution from aircraft - increasing passenger numbers, and therefore flights, will exacerbate the existing damage to air quality

Increased traffic, again leading to poorer air quality, increased noise and congestion.

Site limitations - the proposal requires huge areas of fields and parkland to be destroyed, again with very negative impact on the local environment.

Commitment to reduction of emissions - the proposal is totally contradictory to this aim. As a country, we should be aiming to reduce passenger flights, not increase them.
