Hello

I would like to voice my objections to this plan. I live in East Hatley, a hamlet that used to be tranquil but is now subjected to the screeching sounds of planes overhead many times a day, not to mention the incredibly low flying military aircraft. The sheer hypocrisy of this plan is breathtaking. In one breath this country criticises the environmental damage caused by other countries and with another breath advocates increasing air and noise pollution directly overhead. I chose to live in a rural area for the peace it afforded - now sadly broken by you money lovers. If I had wanted to wave to plane passengers I would have moved to a city. I like peace, you have broken that. I haven't flown in over 20 years so please don't cite people being entitled to a lovely, low cost holiday as a reason to ruin our existence.

Yours
Helen Johnson
