Hello,

Since July 2023 we have had a cacophony of low Luton planes landing, often with their air breaks on, in a steady stream throughout the day over our house. This is compounded with higher Stansted planes departing in the opposite direction. The noise is so loud, patients can here when I am conduction online appointments.

I have written in several times saying while I understand that we all have to experience disruption from planes, surely the inbound planes could vary their descent path by 500 metres on a rotation so we have some respite. Luton replied to my first letter explaining that the new route took into account the least populated area. I replied, pointing out that if this was the case why is it on course to it come over the centre of our quiet village of Sandon which has miles of uninhabited fields to the left and right, I received no reply. I beseech you to please vary this flightpath which has been forced on us against our will.

My fingers are crossed that our concerns are taken into account.

Yours gratefully,

Eliza de Uphough
